

Figure 31

U.S. citizen and permanent resident Hispanic or Latino doctorate recipients with bachelor's degrees from an HHE, by field of study: 1999 and 2019

HHE = high-Hispanic-enrollment institution; S&E = science and engineering.

Note(s):

Excludes doctorate recipients with bachelor's degrees from non-U.S. institutions. HHEs are defined by the U.S. Department of Education as nonprofit public and private institutions of higher education whose full-time equivalent enrollment of undergraduate students is at least 25% Hispanic, according to data institutions report in the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) Fall Enrollment Survey. The 1999 data use the 1998 Fall Enrollment survey, and the 2019 data use the 2019 Fall Enrollment survey.
