

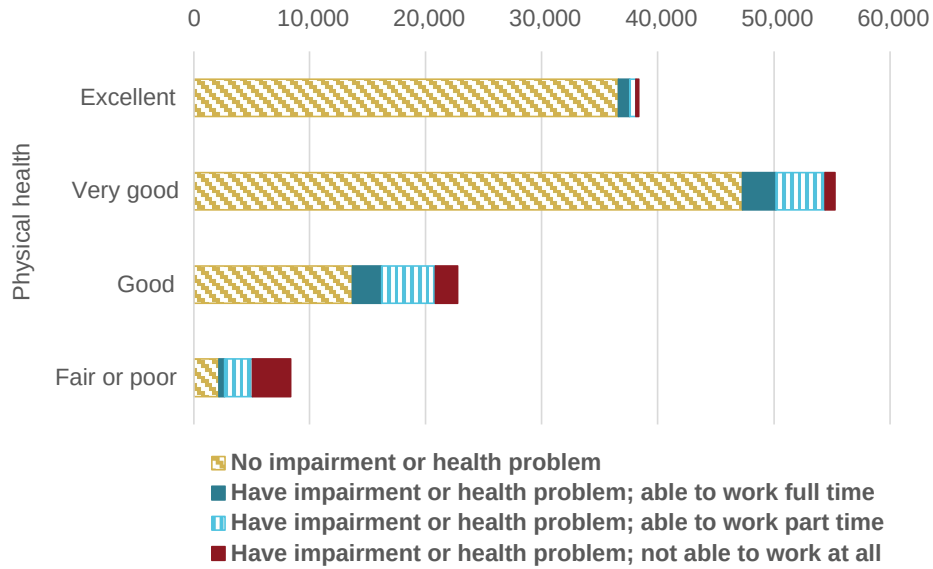

Figure 3

U.S. residing fully retired doctoral scientists and engineers, by physical health and work capacity: 2023

Note(s):

Numbers are rounded to the nearest 50. Detail may not add to total because of rounding. Retired and not employed respondents were asked if they had an impairment or health problem that limits the kind or amount of work they could do. Those who were impaired were asked their capacity to work. Residence location is based on reported living location on 1 February 2023.
